

WORKMAN FARMS

Vendor: Vickie Detomasi

Location: Fallon, NV

Vendor Since: 1992

Workman Farms is a family run farm that set root in Fallon, Nev. almost 50 years ago. Vickie Detomasi and her brother now run the farm after it was handed down to them from their father. Detomasi says she has always enjoyed the farming process and although it has its ups and downs there is nothing else she would rather do.

“I like watching things grow,” Detomasi says. “I wouldn’t be doing it if I didn’t enjoy it.”

That passion for farming is what makes Workman Farms so successful throughout the year. They have been running their produce stand in Fallon for 46 years and attending the Sparks Farmer’s Market as vendors for 17 years. They always make sure that their produce is fresh and flavorful to keep people coming back year after year.

“Our Hearts O’ Gold cantaloupes, corn and tomatoes are our big sellers,” Detomasi says.

Detomasi says that she enjoys coming to the market as well for the great atmosphere and the friendly people. She says that the atmosphere, the smells, the tastes and the freshness of all the food comes together to make the Sparks Farmer’s Market a place people want to be.

Workman Farms Market Items: Cantaloupe, sweet corn, squash, beans, peppers, tomatoes, onions, basil, cucumbers, chilies, jalapenos and okra.